Remarkable Increase of Wealth.

Governor Ireland has estimated the ease to be $80,000,000 to $90,000,000 the aggregate of taxable property of isstate during the year 1882, and in the emptroller's office where assessors' olls are being received daily, the inrease is believed to be at least, $100,-00,000. There is no better evidence be had of the growth of the state han such data afford. It is surprising wen to those who have been most obervant of the rapid growth of Texas. While in some degree this remarkable gowth may be attributed to the natual increase in values, especially of and and live stock consequent upon the advent of capitalists, and the esablishment of ranches and farms in appears that the cities and the cen-tappears that the cities and the cenal portion of the state have kept qual pace in progress and accumulation wealth. There is nothing more gratfring in the situation than this indication that all the portions of the state have measurably shared in the genera'. prosperity It is true, there is complaint hat the English and other non-resident investors in the wild lands in Western Texas are unreasonably assessed, but were the truth known it would probably appear that their assessments are not in excess of their investments. It is even true in a large majority of cases that there is a steady demand for school lands contiguous to the lands of corporations and non-residents at the minimum price fixed by the state, which is almost double the price the non-residents have paid. The new school land board is reported to be in daily receipt of first payments of $500 from actual settlers making their first payments. The first payments being one-thirtieth of the purchase money at $1 to $2 per acre, would indicate that the sales are quite large, and as the land board has not yet inaugurated its system of selling to others than actual settlers, it would appear that the lands being taken up are not generally by non-residents. The marvelous growth of the state evinced by the probable increase of taxable values to the amount of $100,000,000 in one year, and a year, too, in which there was comparatively little in the way of railroad construction, it is believed, has no parallel in this country. It is attributed mainly to the increase of population, which has been attracted by the enterprise of the railway managers and the press of the state. What The News has performed in achieving this grand result, its readers well know, and that this service to the state is kept steadily in view will be clearly shown in its forthcoming special issue of September 1. At the same rate of increase in wealth, in five years the increase in wealth in five years the increase in wealth in the five years the increase in wealth in the five years the increase in wealth in the five years the increase in the five years the five y or at half that rate will reach that sum by the next census. The people of Texas may well expect general and been at fault. The News presents this continuous prosperity from the acquisition of enterprising citizens and capitalists, from the necessary increase in wealth, the diversity of industries, the reduction of taxes, and rapid extension of transportation lines and facilities for commercial intercourse. And as the state government is prohibited from the encouragement of immigration -the main source of all this prosperity -it develves upon the people generally to aid in such efforts as are made by the press to supply the information abroad which is required to keep the state in fair view of the unsettled people of the world. These efforts continued until 1890 should maintain the annual increase at not less than half the rate of the past year. Hence The News only asks for itself the support of readers deeply interested in the continuance of this general and individual prosperity when it furnishes to the world the annual compendium of progress and de-

The Texas Cotton Crop. Galveston News, Aug. 13

There is no reason longer to doubt, whatever, that the growing cotton crop of Texas, compared with last year, will be very short. What this shortage will amount to is variously estimated. A month or six weeks ago the prospect was never more flattering for a full yield, but the drouth which has lasted for such a length of time has almost ruined the crop in a wide distriet of the State. On the upper tier of counties in North Nexas, and in some sections on the river bottoms in the coast district, the crop still promises an abundant yield, but, let these favored sections do ever so well, the outturn of the years 1883-84 will be largely under that of the preceding year, which was the greatest crop ever produced in an American State. It is reported to be a difficult matter to convince persons at a distance interested in the cotton trade that the cotton crop in this State is just what it is. Perhaps persons at a distance have had reason in former years to receive with caution short-crop reports from the producing districts. Be this as it may, The News, with the bests lights before it, has reason to believe and know that the shortness of the crop compared with last year is a veritable fact. In making this statement The News disclaims anything like an attempt to "bull" the cotton situation, and asserts distinctly that it is only interested to the extent of showing positively what the true condition of the crop is. The following compilaby a Galveston cotton expert, whose statistics in this direction have rarely estimate with the belief that it will prove close to the mark: TEXAS COTTON CROP.

YEARS.	Acres in Cultivation	Yield Per acre	Total Texas crop.
1880-81 1881-82 1882-83 1883-84	2,676,298 2,810,313	0.33 0.53	1,339,027 888,000 1,500,000 1,036,000

By the above it will be perceived that the yield of the year 1880-81 gave half a bale to the acre, that of 1881-82 not quite one-third of a bale to the acre, that of 1882-83 somewhat more than one-half bale to the acre, the estimate for 1883-84 being something in excess of one-third bale to the acre, which is perhaps liberal under present prospects. The acreage in cotton in Texas is less this year than last, previous estimates of statistical authorities notwithstanding. The News does not claim to be an authority upon the condition of the cotton crop in other States than its own, but as far as Texas is concerned The News believes that the above estimate will hold good, with the best posible conditions from now on until the end of the cotton-growing and cotton-gethering season. The cotton yield of Texas for 1883-84 does not promise to be much in excess of 1,000-000 bales.

Eggs as Diet.

There is no other article that farman excellent substitute for meat, without any objectionable qualities. For an invalid raw eggs are a most wholesome diet, either beaten with sugar and milk, or dropped into all the sugar and the sug milk, or dropped into eider and swallowed whole. Dyspeptics can use them with safety. An egg dropped into boiling water, cooked till the white is solid, then drained off and laid upon a toasted half cracker, with a little salt and cream poured over it, makes one of the most harmless and toothsome dishes that can be prepared for an invalid. Hard-boiled eggs, sliced thin ablishment of the west, yet have as strong a hold as ever on the ful accompaniment to baked potatoes, and an excellent substitute for any kind of meat for breakfast. Boiled eggs are nice at any meal; and there is one good thing about eggs, one does not tire of them as quickly as of any other kird of food. Eggs and milk, with a little wine or whisky, will make a refreshing drink for old people on a hot day. Beat two eggs to a froth, sweeten well, and add a little wine and a pint of milk. Serve with crackers A teaspoonful of vanilla can be substituted for wine .- Country Gentleman.

A NOTED BUT UNTITLED WOMAN

Messra. Editora :-The above is a good likeness of Mrs. Lydia E. Pink ham, of Lynn, Mass., who above all other h may be truthfully called the "Dear Friend of Woman, as some of her correspondents love to call her. She is zealously devoted to her work, which is the outcome of a life-study, and is obliged to keep six lady assistants, to help her answer the large correspondence which dally pours in upon her, each bearing its special burden of suffering, or joy at release from it. Her Vegetable Compound is a medicine for good and not avil purposes. I have personally investigated it and am satisfied of the truth of this. On account of its proven merits, it is recommended and prescribed by the best physicians in the country. One says: "It works like a charm and saves much pain. It will cure entirely the worst form of falling of the uterus. Leucorrhosa, irregular and paintul Menstruction, all Ovarian Troubles, Inflammation and Ulceration, Floodings, all Displacements and the consequent spinal weakness, and is especially adapted to the Change of Life."

It permeates every portion of the system, and gives new life and vigor. It removes faintness, flatulency, destroys all craving for stimulants, and relieves weakness of the stomach. It cures Bloating, Headaches, Nervous Prostration, General Debility, Sleeplessness, Depression and Indigestion. That feeling of bearing down, causing pain, weight and backache, is always permanently cured by its use. It will at all times, and under all circumstances, act in harmony with the law that governs the female system.

It costs only $1, per bottle or six for $5., and is sold by druggists. Any advice required as to special cases, and tin names of many who have been restored to perfect wealth by the use of the Vegetable Compound, can be obtained by addressing Mrs. P., with stamp for reply, at her home in Lynn, Mass.

For Kidney Complaint of either sex this compound is unsurpassed as abundant testimonials show.

"Mrs. Pinkham's Liver Pills," rays one writer, "are the best in the world for the cure of Constipation, Billousness and Torpidity of the liver.
